Honey Gold Autumn at Har Shalom - A Proposal

• The Nosherei - First Friday Shabbes Dinner Around the World; a group of people who choose to dine together; choosing a country, menu items and dishes to cook and bring to a central point in order to eat and bring in Shabbat together.

• Read and Kibbitz Book Club - Meets monthly to discuss and exchange views on the books being read.

• Toba's class scheduled and advertised.

• Folk Dancing with Bert Chessin.

• 3 months Calendar to begin with;

Honey Gold Autumn Offerings from Har Shalom; September thru November. Next;

Lighting the Cold Months, Offerings from Har Shalom: December thru February

Each calendar/newsletter would be sent out to all members in advance of the upcoming period with educational classes and activities sponsored by the Education [department? committee?]

I recommend a mailing to physical addresses, so that each home is assured a copy to hang up, refer to, use as a reference.

• The ABC Guide to H.S.; a simple booklet of couple pages to help members navigate H.S.

A- Ask the Rabbi; Laurie ... contact info, office hours

B- Become a member ... list how to do so

C- Come join us for the most fun in town; the yearly Chanukah party.

and so on. (I'm guessing Dave would be an asset in completing this alphabetical list.) The booklet could be designed as a function of membership or the education committee.

• Blessings; A Support Group for those in need of healing. Meets twice monthly. I am a credible group leader, having done so for support groups in the past at Elat Chayyim, a Jewish renewal retreat center, and through Parents Supporting Parents, North Carolina for family members of a child with a disability.

This support group open to anyone at Har Shalom who is hurt, in pain, dealing with loss, grief, or the complications of life. Agreement to principles of sacred speech, consideration of feelings, and confidentiality of shared speech is mandatory amongst all group members and leader[s]. We will bless ourselves and each other at beginning and end, allow each to speak their pain. Members encouraged to provide supportive, positive statements in response to the speakers. (Basic outline of group concept.)

• Zachor - To remember loved ones who have died. An artistic and respectful remembrance wall.

• Mishpachah - An art project containing hand prints representing each member/unit.

I will, with your support and encouragement carry out the above ideas and concepts in order to fulfill my job duties, my personal needs, and in doing so, hopefully create fulfillment for others at H.S.

It is my intention to gain as many helpers in these tasks as possible within our community.

Respectfully submitted by Lauren Weinstock, Chair Education and Social Justice Committee

Closing; let's give each other positive statements of our respect, regard, reaction. Positive Only!

Ways to Welcome New Members

"Most people who leave your community will do so within the first year, usually because they haven't made a friend." - Rabbi Arnie Rachlis

Compile a New Member folder with a welcoming letter and information about your congregation. Include a new member questionnaire to explore what new members want from your community and what they bring.

Partner veteran members with new members to keep track of them and keep in touch. Have the current member partners set up a time to deliver hallah, wine and candles to the new members' home.

Make sure that new members continue to be connected to the community - involved members are more likely to continue to be members.

Create programs specifically for new members - a special service; or a brunch after Shabbat or on Sunday.

Create special programs for uninvolved partners and/or families.

Arrange a regular (monthly) "coffee with the rabbi (or another leader)" focus group for particular constituencies in your community (i.e. seniors, non-Jews, GLBT members, singles, single parents, "class of ...," etc.).

Share power and leadership.

Have a committee fair to give new members the opportunity to learn about your congregation's committees, how they work and opportunities for involvement.

Write an "exit poll" to find out why people leave your community.
